ABOUT FNDC

The First National Dyslexia Center is a Bulgarian Association, carrying out its activities in the towns of Ruse and Varna. Its main scope of activities focuses on special pedagogy, and, in particular, specific learning difficulties. In this context, various events and participations in international forums and projects take place. A team of specialists (special pedagogue/dyslexia trainer/ speech therapist and psychologists) works with children, youths and adults. The team also provides consultancy to parents, teachers and stakeholders with interest in dyslexia, dyscalculia, learning difficulties and SpLD.

The team partners with sister-organizations, from Germany and Austria, to supplement its theoretical and practical background. Two members of the team are certified trainers in dyslexia from Erster Österreichischer Dachverband Legasthenie.

Dyslexia is a condition that prevents the process of literacy and education. This condition occurs both in people with talents and people with disabilities (secondary dyslexia).

The assessment of capabilities, advising parents, teachers and young people with disabilities and the organization of seminars is a practice activity of the Centre. www.dyslexia-center.eu

The city of Ruse is situated on the highest right bank of the Danube river, at a distance of 320 km from Sofia, 200 km from Varna and about 300 km from Plovdiv. The population of the city is about 180 000 people. This is one of the largest cities in the country – an important cultural, commercial and industrial center.

The close proximity of the river Danube had always had a great significance for the development of the city from antiquity to the present day. A Roman military camp and fortress were established here in the 1st century AD. It had the name of Seksaginta Pristis –Port of the Sixty Boats. Since the 16th century the city had been known under its Ottoman name - Ruschuk.

Ruse was a pioneer town in many aspects – the first railway station in Bulgaria was built here; a contemporary publishing house was established; a newspaper was issued; the city was a headquarter of multiple consulates.

After 1878 Ruse was the largest city in Bulgaria Principality, its economy was developing very fast and this had its influence upon the entire appearance of the city. The connection which the city had with Europe through the Danube river was favorable for its development. Due to the beautiful exterior and interior architecture of the buildings created by Italian, Austrian, German and Bulgarian architects, Ruse was also known as „The Small Vienna“.
